

You're doing better than you think.

The fact that you worry means you care. There's no such thing as a perfect parent — only a real one, showing up with love. That's you. Be as gentle with yourself as you are with them.

The fact that you worry means you care. There's no such thing as a perfect parent — only a real one, showing up with love. That's you. Be as gentle with yourself as you are with them.